

Fun Family Spooky Tales

Monday, October 26 at 5 pm

It is that time of year when we have ghoulies and ghosties prowling and howling!

Join Master Storyteller Donna Washington for a fun not-so-scary spooky tales set perfect for a family audience. We will enjoy some swamp stories, kids who are and aren't afraid of the dark, and creatures who just seem scary but when you get to know them, they are all right! Bring your friends! Bring your Grandma! These are some fun, wacky, not so scary stories! This event will stream on the Greensboro Public Library's Facebook page. The link to this program will be up for viewing until Sunday, November 1.

Flesh from the Bone

Tuesday, October 27 at 8 pm

It is time for tales that are fit for neither man nor beast! Join Master Storyteller Donna Washington for some creepy, blood-drenched, tales of terror. These stories are not for children. Don't invite them! These stories will make you contemplate the noises you hear in the dark, and perhaps give you some unsettling dreams. They might make you think twice before turning out the light. If you are up to peeling a little flesh from the bone, join us for some spine-tingling fun!

This program is for adults only. This event will stream on the Greensboro Public Library's Facebook page. The link to this program will be up for viewing after 8pm each night until Sunday, November 1.

NC Haunts

Wednesday, October 28 at 5 pm

Celebrate Halloween with the Greensboro Public Library- if you dare. Watch and listen to a few local legends and ghost stories, and make sure to check out the spooky books that Greensboro Public Library owns. If you have your own favorite local ghost story, leave it in the comments!

Halloween Full Moon Fusion program with Donna Washington

Saturday, October 31 at 6pm

Join us for a viewing of Fun Family Spooky Tales (description below) on Facebook followed by a live conversation with author and storyteller, Donna Washington. Washington is an internationally renowned storyteller based in North Carolina. She is a multiple award winning spoken word recording artist and author. Donna is a highly animated performer who has been called "a walking Disney movie" and has been entertaining, educating, and inspiring audiences with her vocal pyrotechnics, elastic face, and deep characterizations that bring folklore, literary tales, and personal narratives to life for over thirty years. This event will stream on the Greensboro Public Library's Facebook page. Co-sponsored by Lebauer Park.
